

The Relationship of Psychological Type to Political Orientations

Are political "culture wars" really "type wars"? This study looks at the relationship between psychological type preferences and a variety of political orientations including: liberal-conservative self concept, attitudes toward topical political issues, and political party affiliation.

The pdf file is here.

(© 2007 by Thomas G. Carskadon, Editor, Journal of Psychological Type ®)